2008 Elections:

Behind-the-scenes and On-the-street

A five-day experience, open to all St. Louis-area high-school students

Monday, June 9 through Friday, June 13, 2008

No enrollment fee

Activities

- Go “behind-the-scenes” with election officials and politicians to see how elections are organized and managed, and how votes are counted and reported in St. Louis City and St. Louis County.
- “Canvass” local neighborhoods, to talk with area residents about issues that will influence their votes in the November election. Analyze results and compare neighborhood to neighborhood.
- Conduct a “street-corner” survey to learn about voters’ [and non-voters’] political views.
- Register voters to get new people engaged in the political process.
- Try phone-banking at a local “call center,” to get an inside look at a key campaign technique.

Why we’re doing this

Urban Go-Team 2008 offers a way for high-school students to continue on a path toward active citizenship. We do not endorse candidates, and we’re not affiliated with any school district, political party or religious organization. To sign up, please contact Arthur Lieber, 314-367-6480.
