Money in politics:

What kind of Democracy is this?

The 2016 election is expected to be the most expensive election held in the U.S. ever. Early estimates are saying that presidential candidates will spend around $2 billion each.

- Where does that money come from?
- What does it buy?
- Is there a downside to having such expensive elections?
- Why is transparency important to democracy?

Civitas has brought two speakers from OpenSecrets.org to explain the issues and lead a discussion about money in politics.

When: Thursday, Nov. 12, 7-8 pm

Where: Nerinx Hall High School

This presentation is free to attend.
